

Sid Raymond & Jerry Beck, 1994

4/3/02 - SID RAYMOND, subject of a documentary!

One of the greatest experiences I ever had was meeting and getting to know Sid Raymond.

Sid with his Famous souvenir

I also visited him in Miami where he showed me his only souvenir of working for Famous Studios (close-up at right). It's a framed piece of original art (It looks like Dave Tendlar drew it to me) with Baby Huey and Katnip. Huey says "Duh-h - Hey Katnip! You talk just like Sid Raymond!". Katnip replies "Duh-h - So do you, Huey!!" It's signed "To Sid, Best Wishes from the Famous Studios gang."

Sid is still working at age 93 - he can be seen in the new movie BIG TROUBLE, opening this Friday at a theater near you. Sid had an amazing career - he appeared on classic episodes of THE HONEYMOONERS, and in such films as THE HUSTLER, dozens of commercials, in Vaudeville and on Broadway, and of course, in cartoons.

And now, filmmaker Howard Weinberg is making a documentary about Sid Raymond. You can check out the details at www.howardweinberg.net and see a small work-in-progress trailer for the film. Weinberg is looking for donations to support the final editing. Cartoon Research wishes him luck and much success in completing this important project. As Katnip says, "That sounds logical!"
